Dear Ruth:I was thinking about "old" Ashburn and how close all our families were. How all us (kids) at that time was safe to walk the streets because of neighbors like you.. I remember walking to school and seeing you out in your yard working. You always said hello and would talk to me. I always had respect for you because you were, kind, loving and very caring. You were greatly loved, But God wanted you with him to enjoy your new life of peace. God bless you our dear friend. You will always be missed. Rest in Peace.Cathy (Ramaley) Cox

Ruth was a very graceful woman with a lot of love for all. Long time friends with my mom and taught me in Sunday school over 50 years ago. Such a sprit filled lady with the love in her heart for the Lord and a blessing she was. I am sure that all Gods angels are with her family and friends. Ruth was always there for me , my mom and birth of my son and granddaughter. For births, weddings and my moms funeral. you could count on Ruth . I love you Ruth and you will be very much missed. I lit this red candle for Ms. Judd because I remember that being her favorite color. We were neighbors when I was a child - I probably saw her every day in some capacity from the time I was 2 until I was 14, and every single memory I have of her there is the color red. Such a wonderful person and she will be greatly missed by many.

My Grandmother; For all you have done, you will surely be missed...One of your most memorable poems:HandsYou see my hands as wrinkled and worn;I look at them with love, not scorn.To me each wrinkle represents a good deed;A cake baked, or food for someone in need.I think of many hands I have held in prayer;God so close, you could feel his presence there.Those hands that comforted many a child;Make me think of my Savior-meek and mild.Many trips to the doctor for a friend,Little kind words and deeds without end.You see my hands all wrinkled and old,I see them far more precious than gold.
