Every Wednesday evening I would walk into Westminster Presbyterian Church here in Jacksonville, FL and find Rose Kinnaman preparing our evening meal. It was always a welcome sight. There she was, standing with her apron on and a smile that lit the room. I can still hear her, "Well hey Mr. Chip! How are you?" The greeting so was genuine and heartfelt you couldn't help but smile as well. Rose was in her element – serving the needs of others. When I think of the characteristics of a Christian, I think of a servant. When someone says that they are a Christian, I am always looking for the good works that accompany the profession of faith. Rose lived out her faith day in and day out by giving herself away. Perhaps she had a better understanding of the great truths of the Bible because she lived her life so others could move ahead. Prestige and positions of authority didn't motivate her. She was driven by a servant's heart. Many people never saw the countless hours she and Tom spent together, making sure the church and the grounds were ready for Wednesday and Sunday. They missed all of the menu planning and the time spent alone preparing the meals. Rose was a silent servant, one of God's agents here on earth. My life is richer because she gave. Thank you Rose! Dear Rose and Thom, Psalm 116:15: Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his saints. Rose: It has been a wonderful blessing and privilege to know you the last four years as a friend and sister in Christ. Jesus takes sinners like us and makes us new creations. As you and Thom always remind me so lovingly: We are not perfect, but God has forgiven us in Christ. What we deserved, Christ has taken upon Himself; what we did not deserve, Christ has freely given to us- -and that grace, that forgiveness, that reconciliation with God is for all who believe and put their faith in Christ alone! Thank you for living the Gospel in front of me. You were always such an encouragement to me and to many others. I am reminded of how you always demonstrated zeal for the Gospel of Jesus. Faithfully almost every week, you and Thom, made sure that many at Wingle House Apartments were invited to join us for our Bible study- -and many came and joined us because of your invitations. More than a few people came to hear the Gospel over the years and even started attending the worship of God again because of your influence and friendship. You will be tremendously missed! You are beholding your Savior--you are now fully healed! (John 17:24). Thom: I know this is perhaps the hardest time you have ever been through. I realize you are leaning and resting on Jesus, but it can be challenging keeping your eyes on Jesus when you hurt so badly. Jesus sympathizes with you, and He as your dear Savior and King is holding you, and will continue to comfort you, and over time strengthen you. We grieve, but not as those without hope (1 Thess. 4:13-18). We miss Rose, but we know that she is beholding the glorious face of her Savior right now, and you will be reunited with her! Right now, we will weep, and rejoice and sing hallelujahs, and weep some more, and rejoice and thank God, and then weep and sing again, until our dear Savior returns! We live with our feet firmly planted in the wilderness of this present age, an age characterized by death, sin and misery, but our heads are in heaven, united by the Spirit with our Blessed Savior, and soon He will wipe away all of the tears and the death, sin and misery will be gone! And we will live happily ever after! (Rev. 21:1-8). Amen. We are a blessed people, are we not?! I love you Thom and Rose! IN Christ, Pastor Charles Biggs and Family (Margaret, Elisabeth, and Esther)
