It is with great sadness to know that she has passed away. She was a great lady and had a heart of gold. I don't believe she ever met a stranger and would help anyone. She had the most caring and compassionate heart of anyone that I know. She gave freely of herself time and time again. John 13:34 says to love one another and that is something that she did every day. Those who had the privilege to know her knew that she was someone special. May God comfort the family during this time and may you find peace in knowing that you will see her again.
