Dave and I worked together for about 6 years. He would always come over to see me each morning. We both trash talked most of the time, and he would treat me to a banana every morning for breakfast. If I didn't see him I would check to see what was taking him so long, and he told me I was spoiled. We laugh and joked all the time, he was a well respected person. We both had the love for basketball and football. He being a Dukie and me a Hoya fan, the competence would not end, when football season roll in our friendship boil like a tea kettle flute soaring; the rally between Redskins/Cowboys and you can figure out who loved who. And with all this being shared, Dave my buddy my friend rest in peace and I hope to see you again someday. You are missed already, but God answers all things and I know we will cross each others path again someday. God bless you and your family in this time of need. Anecdotes: First time playing golf with Dave, circa 1986, I lifted his golf bag and almost fell over because of its weight. Dave must have had 300-400 golf balls in it that he'd been collecting for years.!!! He chuckled and said you can never have too many! South American capital city circa 1989: despite bombs going off in city, Dave and I strolled to a major hotel to watch the Redskins/Denver Superbowl. That was really hard for Dave given his great passion for the Cowboys. After the Redskins won Dave said the victory should have been the Cowboys. Loyal forever!! God rest you my good friend and buddy who believed in the work ethic as well as I do. I'll always remember the good company you provided on many of our harrowing tasks. We worked well together and I will always remember your good sense of humor through thick and thin. I'll remember the nickname I gave you in Spanish, "El Cuello Rojo" which you adopted in good faith and humor..Adios, amigo. Espero que se vaya bien en su viaje a cielo. Vaya con Dios. Dave and I worked together for many years and he was always the con-sumate professional. More than that, we became good friends, played many fun rounds of golf and shared stories of family, friends and experiences. His greatest love was his family and his loyalty as a friend was steadfast and true. Peace be to you and yours Dave.Ed Rohrbach##imported-begin##Ed Rohrbach##imported-end##
