To my dear friend, Hatsie: These past several months have been incredible - a showing of the most magnificent strength I have ever seen. Your never-ending hope and love sent Guy off in a cloud of love. I admire your strength and fortitude. I admire your take-charge attitude with those nurses at the hospital and your unfailing devotion to your husband. You are an amazing woman, Hats, and I love you dearly. You are such a special friend. Your pain is my pain. There are really no words to describe the pain you are feeling or the love your friends and colleagues are feeling for you. We all just know that it's there. The hole in your heart is filled with love from Guy. My God he loved you...maybe even overwhelmingly so at times...but what a wonderful thing to be loved so deeply. That part of Guy will stay with you forever and ever - even as that hole heals, and it will, in time...and you will just be left with lots and lots of love. You are a very special woman whom I am very blessed to call my friend. May God bring you His guidance and lead you and Nicole and Jeremy through this very difficult time. Now get back out there and catch me some fish!##imported-begin##Janet Murphy (SPOTU)##imported-end##

Hatsie What do you say at a time like this? I really do not know. I did not know that you were going through all of this trauma, but did wonder why most of your work was coming from home. Now I know why most of your e-mails of late had the tag "working from home." I have lost both of my parents and healed (mostly) through that. I have not lost my husband and now that we are at the age of that happening, it is creeping into my mind. Of course, we are not young at 55. I see that you are keeping up your humor; which at a time like this is so important. Ray and my thoughts are with you and your family.
