To the family and friends:Please accept my heartfelt sympathies in the loss of your dear loved one. How comforting in knowing Almighty God has not only the power but also the desire to resurrect our loved ones. Jesus himself said: "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." Dear Liz, Hans and famliy:We both would like to extend our sympathy over the loss of your beloved father. We also hope that you receive comfort in knowing that we are thinking of you at your time of loss and hope that you will remember all the wonderful times you shared with your father. You were a wonderful daughter and son-in-law and provided your Dad with much care and love. Please do not hesitate to call if you are feeling sad. We have both lost parents and know that having friends at your side can help fill the void , even for a small moment. Much love to you all, Hesed and Bill Nash##imported-begin##Hesed and William Nash##imported-end##

Texts That ComfortTime and again, in explaining how they have coped with their grief, faithful Christians have said: "Let me tell you my favorite Bible text." If you are grieving, maybe some of these scriptures will also help you."Blessed be . . . the Father of tender mercies and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our tribulation."—2 Corinthians 1:3, 4."You are opening your hand and satisfying the desire of every living thing."—Psalm 145:16."He [God] has set a day in which he purposes to judge the inhabited earth in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed, and he has furnished a guarantee to all men in that he has resurrected him from the dead."—Acts 17:31."I—I myself am the One that is comforting you people."—Isaiah 51:12."Like a man whom his own mother keeps comforting, so I myself shall keep comforting you people."—Isaiah 66:13."This is my comfort in my affliction, for your own saying has preserved me alive. I have remembered your judicial decisions from time indefinite, O Jehovah, and I find comfort for myself. May your loving-kindness serve, please, to comfort me, according to your saying to your servant."—Psalm 119:50, 52, 76."The hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life."—John 5:28, 29.##imported-begin##Alfonso Prudente##imported-end##

Dear Liz, Hans and the Ibranyi Family, especially Eileen Sr. and Aunt Sally.I love you all most dearly and am so grateful to have you in my life and that it has been possible, especially over these past 10 years to be a part of your parents' lives when visiting in Waterford.I will always remember all the incredible stories and wonderful humor and talents of Dr. Gus Ibranyi reaching back into my childhood when our fathers were doctors together in those Essex County days of caring for so many. I can imagine that they are again making that wonderful music together that was a part of their friendship of many years. "Uncle Gus" as we sometimes called him, always knew how to notice what was special or attractive in a person and his thoughtful compliments helped to brighten my day when I visited him.May you all know of my love and support in this time of loss. Hoping to see you in the not too distant future, I am in deep sympathy, your friend, Judy##imported-begin##Judith Burbank##imported-end##

To All the Ibranyis,I remember our "Mt. Prospect Avenue" family doctor with great fondness for his care, including his selfless after-hours housecalls during our early childhood, his gentle manner and comforting laugh. Please accept my genuine condolance at your loss. Coincidentally, our mother, Elizabeth, died suddenly a week earlier in Roanoke, Virginia. The emotions of losing a parent are still very near and a personal burden strongly felt. Colorado is now my home, but I will offer prayers for Dr. Ibranyi and the family. I would otherwise have payed my respects to the Ibranyi family in person in honoring Dr. Ibranyi's service to others.##imported-begin##Steve Sisa##imported-end##
