I still have a hard time believing you're gone. I find myself checking my phone for missed calls and texts. And then each morning I wake up and it hits me all over again like a ton of bricks to my chest. People keep telling me that time will make it easier but I don't think so. How do you ever recover from losing your little brother, your closest sibling, your best friend? The only small comfort I find these days is knowing that you are at peace in heaven and you are no longer suffering or struggling. I look forward to the day I can't hug you, see your face and hear your voice again. I am angry and heartbroken beyond belief without you. My life will never be the same without you here and I will never stop missing you. I will never let anyone forget what a kind, caring, generous man you were. You were one of a kind and an amazing person. Not goodbye, but see you later, Your big sis Steph

WE lived in different states, so we never really had the chance to be close. BUT i do remember you as a little boy living here in pawtucket. AND again years back when your grandma RITA passed, you came to my house. very quiet boy. you had your video game with you and so involved in it.. R.I.P. and may GOD'S BLESSINGS be upon your family left behind.. you're now with you HEAVENLY FAMILY.. love KATHY & FAMILY
