I will always remember Sara as a person who is beautiful and kind ---heart and soul. I was lucky she was born into our family --Sara, our baby sister. Although we were born sisters, we were also very good friends. She departed much too early from this earth. It's a shock for us all, and she and I had plans. Spending many hours on the phone, and in person, talking and laughing about our triumphs, troubles and future possibilities. Sometimes we wouldn't speak for a time, but I knew she were still there for me always. I miss her so much.Sara saved my life. She gave me her blood/immune system transplant; without which I wouldn't be alive today. It was difficult for her, just dealing with the procedure, but also being away from her boys was difficult, but she did it anyway and dealt with the issues later. Sara was kind, quirky and generous to a fault. As her troubles mounted, she would still offer to help others, to reach out, and to include others. She had great comedic timing with her sarcastic and smart sense of humor. Sara would say something that would seem to come out of nowhere, and it could lighten the mood instantly, which would then give others space to open up too. Sometimes, due to the situation, or possibly Sara's sense of humor, she could be misunderstood, but nevertheless, she loved and cherished all those around her with all her heart. Sara could bring out the best in people and her jokes brought smiles and laughter to anyone within earshot. Her absence has left a hole in the hearts and lives of the people who knew her.Sara was one of those amazing people, she teaches you things in life and then she's gone, much too early. I hope we can all keep a piece of Sara in our hearts and take it into the world with us. Help make this place a little better, just like she would always do.

Sara, A Traditional Irish Blessing for you. You and the friendship you offered will be missed but please know that you are loved. My condolences to your family. May the road rise up to meet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the sun shine warm upon your face; the rains fall soft upon your fields. And until we meet again, May God hold you in the palm of His hand. May the road rise up to meet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the warm rays of sun fall upon your home. And may the hand of a friend always be near. May green be the grass you walk on, May blue be the skies above you, May pure be the joys that surround you, May true be the hearts that love you.

You can shed tears because they are gone, or you can smile because they lived. You can close your eyes and pray they will come back, or you can open your eyes and see all that they left for you. Your heart can be empty because you can't see them, or you can be full of the love you shared. You can turn your back on tomorrow and live for yesterday, or you can be happy for tomorrow because of yesterday. You can remember only that they are gone, or you can cherish their memory and let it live on. You can cry and close your mind and feel empty or you can do what they would want. Smile, Open your heart, Love and go on. For you Sara. From you Siblings (Written By Elizabeth Ammons)

Sara was a true blue friend. She was always great for a laugh, good conversation and fun. But she also was eager to help whenever a friend was in need. My family experienced a LOT of medical emergencies this past year. I was needed at the hospital and Sara insisted on helping out and hanging with my kids. They loved spending time with Sara. Later, we took the opportunity to go visit her at her new home (all masked up), and the kids were so happy to visit once again. I have many memories of Sara, and all of them are happy. Despite this past year of almost total separation, Sara continually reached out to check in (she was so much better at this than I am). I will miss her so much, and I know that her death must be devastating you, her family. My family offers you all sincere condolences and our prayers. Joyce Chalfont-Hurst and Family
